

Choice.

Everyone who is curious, questions, examines, and improves on, the status quo. And strives for the present true self - a spiritual quest – can attain pure intent, of self.

By virtue of, a choice. A deep guided belief. That stems from the heart and mind. And by daily disciplined action.

This is a part of our creative souls. A gift from the Maker God - our legacy.

All content and information presented herein, is without prejudice or motive. Save that the reader, may find whatever pleases and instructs them. This is the attribute of intelligence, our consciousness. Take only with you, that which will help you write your history.

Seldom during our known, recorded, and disclosed history. Has ideas, faith, and theories, or valid contributions. Initiated by a few individuals, allowed to become an immediate factor. Most of the time, a delayed gratification or recognition suffices.

The luminary content, of this letter, and other articles. Hopefully, brings with an enlightenment, toward general, esoteric, and gnostic mysteries. All is knowledge.

I present the following explanations:

1. Gnostic – A collection of knowledge, by various people. Throughout the periods. Of ideas and systems. That allude to, and emphasizes, personal spiritual growth.
2. Esoteric – The diverse meaning of this word, depends on its conjoint context. However, its meaning, often, is in reference to knowledge. Limited to a smaller number of people. With specialized interests, or certain knowledge. Or the ability to comprehend, or apply such knowledge.
3. All knowledge – mostly derives from a taught system. Whether formal or casual, or from family construct. General knowledge normal derives from observation. Then its application, is by trial and error. Our best teachers.
Therefore, by a progressive method, of learning. Its pinnacle, often is, reached by the desire to advance, or to develop further. Influenced by society and environmental issues. And by the natural evolution of things.

The right to knowledge, without restraint. Depends on the powers-that-be. Relative to that point of history. How they view; what is right, for the greater good of society. And how they, the current conquers; re-write history in their favour.

Knowledge, certain stances of speech, individual conduct, and collective acts. Normally rest with a few learned-ed individuals. Within established social orders. Organizations, or their various disciplines. Even within a monarchy.

Referencing to - and acceptance of its unwavering own professionalism, within the various disciplines.

Hence the Achilles-heel, driven by the ridged nature of general society. That eventually teaches conformity. Usually by idiom peculiar to a language. Normally driven by ridicule, peer pressure, fear of accusation, and prosecution.

Structured society, that are self-governed by, ethos, pathos, and logos; are determined by role play. And are unique to gender, race, and status.

The fact, that parents; teach their children, an unwaveringly acceptance. To their best interests, is an attribute to this.

Self-imprisonment, laziness, and the ignorance's of the mind. And the utter reliance on another person. That subdues those without knowledge, desire, or resource.

The fact, that a child's aptitude guides them into a relevant direction. Based on what is good for the individual and their capabilities. And how they should fit into, the greater service of the community. Where they live. And not always to their benefit, or desire. By constraint. By diversion of activity. By education. By law. By taxations. And monetary systems.

Coupled with various time restraints, knowledge, permissions, and objectives by the said people. And an official licence to practice a specific task, function, or trade, or a discipline. And the support of such licenses. That create both standard, and have negative business implications. That produce cost-to-business, and corruption.

Whether openly, or on a need-to-know basis. Whether disclosed in its fullness or partly. These boundaries for control, for dominion, environment, and geographic are set.

And are in favour of the focused few. In favour of profit, at the expense, of another. Yet, the guidelines, fixed principles, administration, and good governance need not be determined by law. And is open to the interpretation, in the spirit of the law. And a 'reasonable man's law'. Which forms the basis, for "the law of the land". Separate to "the law of the sea". And of the "air".

This all, breeds conformity, and regulation, and law. And the fear of law, that limits the mind with consequence. That operates inclusively, on a tit-for-tat system. Written law, to suppress, segregate, and protect the few from the masses.

Therefore, we should rather focus on reward. Achievement, and diligence. Self-development, and social cohesion.

We should encourage change, and growth, through a process. A 360-degree objective, that will enforce unprecedented adherence. And the advancement of human civilization, and their intelligence. To the mindset, and concept of... I am because of my community. Beyond Earth awaits.

Individually we should grant the next person an opportunity to express their faith, ideas, and theory. We therefore need to be in constant respectful discussions. And we should apply the necessary to our daily lives. Progressing as a society together, relevant to the period, time, and place.

Normally such an accepted and driven change, happens over shorter periods. And is relevant to the curiosity and development of societies. This is since the masses of humankind have grown in awareness of self-management, and enlightenment, and strive for the improvement of self.

Another factor, that determines our choices, is the following; a truth by means of individual perspective. Represented from more than, or a single opinion. Or the outside influence of people. However, these notions, do not have to represent the factual event of a living species. Or from nature.

The fact is determined, mainly by a reported truth. And not normally by actual events. That takes its roots from upbringings, or gender, or education, or quirks specific to a culture, or race.

For these and other reasons. Many a person, has stood at a crossing figuratively in life. And contemplated the right course of action.

And made choice:

1. The development of self-first.
(Self).
2. To the benefit of the second. The social integration. The co-adhesion. And the unification of the masses. To the bond between people.
(Creator).
3. To the most important, the third. The binding and life-giving consciousness, sub-consciousness, soul, and spirit, of the Maker God.
(Maker).

We acknowledge now, three principles, from which none can err:

1. Change, by movement. Caused by vibration.
(Vibrations).
2. Tireless movement of everything. Is energy. Including particle, driven by a consciousness.
(Energies).
3. That hums along to a frequency. That, either will attract, or repel.
(Frequencies).

And hence the paired luminary. That people will challenge their own belief, learned ideas, and the truth be-told. Debating growth or societal acceptance or timeous change. Certainly, the future generations will not be the last, to progress.

Ever present, in, and through all. That all may acknowledge, and apply, a unified life. To achieve something greater than self. To live in harmony with all nature. From where we came from, and are part of.

And not exercise, control and dominion over that. To the benefit, or advantage of humankind only.

This fact lustres. By the contributions of individuals, and their abilities. Of certain people to influence the structure of regularly organized society. Even so. Eventually all knowledge triumphs. And change is, emanated, from choice. And from conviction. And from belief.
