

Nature of man 1.

We observe, from where we came.

We preserve the same, driven by the survival of self.

This we learn to love.

Because, the love of self is greater.

So, we teach this love, to the next.

And its great importance of preservation, by copulation, to procreate.

To change this.

To advance.

Is to move a mountain.

And needs a daily focused action.

A discipline, that extends.

To a way of life.

Such is the nature of intelligence.

By

Raymond Peter Luke

www.qibp.co.za