

Created, or made.

A note

To that which is, created. And that what is, made. All matter.
A brief look. For the time being.

I can only claim, that I created something from clay. Something useful, something pleasing, something of added value.

I did not, make the clay, from nothing.

Hence, I claim to be, a creator. Not a Maker of all mater, as such. Nor have I control, or dominion, over such.

Created

A reality is only relevant at that point in time, fixed to that moment. In the present tense. Influenced, however, by the advent of a period and a realm. Placed into a measurable time scale. This allows such observable facts, recorded into the repository of an intelligent mind. For forecasting, and estimating the advance, and the preservation of self.

The Creators of these fundamentals, formed comparable ideas into a visible profile. Then defined this for portion, thereafter refined all through the march of time. Everything hereafter is resolute.

The principle of dominion, that divides territories, and sovereignty over another life. Even over species considered the same.

By means of control. A supply and demand through an activity. Redeemed of value, by a continual process. A reward system, a claim, and an entitlement.

Creatures who have proclaimed superior intelligence over other life forms. Have a determined force, or a creative energy. Allowing Exalted and Creative, and other, sustained by consciousness, sub-consciousness, and emotional charge.

Encoded through sequencing, and procreation of all that is dual. The advance of intelligence, and evolution of self. The passing down of one's nature and consistency. To ensure life through another, to guide, nurture, and develop the continuance of a shared self.

Their mind, living soul and unique part spirit exist in unified service. For the benefit of self, and for the greater than self. Transcending the soul determines in this life, the next, beyond the boundaries of the grave.

Humankind's Souls, and their attempts to establish everlasting dominion over nature. From which they claim birth. To which, their futile attempts. Can never succeed the march of time, evolution, and change.

Made

Interconnected by a virtue through time. Spirit's that demands right, because of another's presence. Yet, still independent, and dual in nature. Gathered into a conscious ocean that links living souls, across the ages. As one source that drives all life forms. A cohesive Ancient Spirit. Spirit into mater.

The First Life, as such. A conscious and intelligent spirit, the matrix of all existence. The mind of an extraordinary Great Architect. The force behind all nature.

The Maker God of all, Supreme, that birthed itself into Nature. From a mere nothing, by definition, into existence.

In all, and through all, and with all.

By Raymond Peter Luke

www.qibp.co.za